Typography creates warmth, clarity, and rhythm

Libre Baskerville

Titles, section openers, and short editorial statements

DM Sans

Paragraphs, labels, navigation, and practical information

Clear contrast

Make headings visibly larger and body copy comfortably readable

Natural sentence case

Reserve all caps for short labels and eyebrows

Generous spacing

Let type breathe; avoid crowded lines and dense blocks

The logo system stays clear, calm, and recognizable

Full logo

Preferred for covers, headers, signage, and first impressions

Icon mark

Use only when the full mark cannot remain comfortably legible

One icon width

Keep a clear field around every side of the mark

Legibility first

Do not reduce the full logo below 1.5 inches in presentations

Protect the form

Never stretch, recolor, rotate, crop, outline, or add effects

Photography should feel observed, not staged

Bright and natural

Favor soft daylight, balanced warmth, and true-to-life color

Purposeful learning

Show real materials, hands at work, gardens, and classroom discovery

Child-height view

Create intimacy with candid, close, respectful perspectives

Use approved imagery

Choose official, consented photographs and avoid sensitive details

Botanical accents

Pair imagery with organic crops, seed forms, and subtle natural texture

Bring the garden system into every application

Cards

Soft corners, thin sage borders, and content-led height.

Buttons

Pill shapes with direct, welcoming action language.

Layouts

Editorial asymmetry balanced by generous breathing room.

Surfaces

Warm ivory and paper tones, with forest text for contrast.
